

FIRE MAKING WORKSHOP

Book this workshop at the B-Active center (Situating inside the Strand Fjordhotel)

Our guide will welcome you the Nature Center (just a short walk from the Osa kafeen where you can park your car.)

An instructor will show different ways of how to make fire, use of natural materials and building and maintaining a campfire

You will get to practice with the firesteel and tinder we find in nature. Like most things, it looks easier than done

There are several kinds of campfires and ways to build them, each with their specific purpose

The principles of making fire with the fire bow, plow, handdrill, viking steel, silex and fungus, and other ways will be explained but not practiced. That's for advanced courses

Making fire keeps you warm in 3 ways. Collecting wood, making the fire, and the fire itself

A fire is not only important for its practical use. It socially bonds you with other people and it gives a great feeling if you made a fire all by yourself